TEN BILLS PROPOSED IN TAX PROGRAM

AUTO LICENSES, TOBACCO, FACE LARGER TAXES

Eight Other Recommendations Made to Legislature by Sen. Robt Taft

IS NO ALTERNATIVE

Other Measures Not Given Group Support

By EARL H. WILSON

COLUMBUS, O., May 12.—Submitting a report of an investigation it started three months ago, the legislature's special taxation committee today recommended the immediate passage of ten committee-drafted bills as a means of working out a new state tax program and furnishing $15,000,000 in new state revenues.

Senator Robert A. Taft (R) of Cincinnati, chairman of the committee, submitted the report to the senate and the house of representatives with the explanation that "there seems to be no alternative except to impose new or increased state excise taxes."

LIST IS REPORTED

Convinced that intangible tax proceeds "should be applied to the local districts to assist in the reduction of real estate taxes," the committee recommended that new funds be raised through the two following excise levies:

1. A tobacco tax bill, exacting a tax of two cents a package on cigarettes and a 10 per cent tax on the retail price of cigars and tobacco, and producing in all approximately $8,000,000 a year.

2. An increased automobile license tax bill, boosting auto tag rates to $7, $10, $15, $20, and $25.

Other bills recommended in the report but not expected to assist in the attempt to find additional state revenues provided for the following:

1. A constitutional amendment calling for a $5,000,000 bond issue for improving and fire-proofing state welfare institutions.

2. Intangible levies of five per cent on investments, two mills on bank and building and loan deposits, two mills on the real value of non-income yielding investments, two mills on shares and capital in financial institutions ,and five mills on the capital and surplus of domestic insurance companies.

3. Reductions in corporation fees "as an encouragement to industry to incorporate in Ohio."

4. An increase in the membership of the state tax commission from four to six with salary boosts of from $4,000 to $6,500.

5. Elective county budget commissions "to serve without compensation," and to safeguard local expenditures.

6. Re-enactment of sections of the statutes authorizing tax levies outside of the limitations when permission is granted by a vote of the people.

7. Institution of foreclosure proceedings against delinquent property in three years instead of four years and allowing partial payment, or "installment plan" payment of delinquent taxes.

8. Harbor improvements designed to attract other industries to Ohio.

Chairman Taft's report indicated that "the committee devoted most of its time to the preparation of a bill revising the entire system of taxing tangible and intangible personal property."

OTHERS UNSUPPORTED

Other measures submitted to the legislature in the report, but not

White Warns Of Financial Crisis In Ohio

COLUMBUS, May 12—Warned by Governor White that the state is facing a grave financial crisis, Ohio legislators swung their swivel chairs face to face today with the grim task of juggling the state's tax system to provide sufficient funds with which to keep the government machinery oiled and chugging for another biennium.

The job is by no means simple child's play, the legislators realize, and they have before them at least a month's labor over involved and complicated methods whereby additional revenue can be obtained.

MUST WATCH FUNDS

The need is immediate, Governor White told the legislators, or "there will have to be substantial curtailments" in the operations of state governmental activities.

And some of them, he warned, "may prove most undesirable from the standpoint of public welfare."

With this gloomy prediction written on the walls of the statehouse corriders, the legislators began unwinding the knitwork of taxation proposals that have been woven during the 31-day recess by a special legislative committee.

One by one the proposals will be sifted through public hearings, conferences and committees. It will be the "survival of the fittest" to carve the new taxation system that will provide the necessary "additional revenue."

The governor's message—his fourth since his inauguration—was given to the legislature last night. In it he cautioned against "making appropriations in excess of incomes which may be reasonably expected."

The state's income, due in part to the business depression, he said, "is continually falling behind its necessary expenditures."

GRAVE PROBLEM

There is a grave problem, he warned, whether the state's employes can even be paid regularly during the next month or two.

"The state is being forced, by lack of cash, into expedients which good business judgment does not sanction," the governor declared. "Welfare institutions, for example,

MARCHERS DEMAND HELP

Committee, Before Senate, Asks From 10 To 25 Millions For Relief.

COLUMBUS, O., May 12.—Singing a noisy accompaniment to a "boom, boom" of a bass drum, hammered lustly by a negro musician, 200 "hunger marchers" crowded the state house yard here today and demanded relief from the legislature and Governor George White.

Fifteen leaders were hurriedly ushered into the chamber of the state senate to present their requests to a joint session of the two houses while the remainder jammed the state house steps outside and harangued curious on-lookers with demand for funds to relieve the jobless.

Uniformed police and plain-clothes men sauntered through the crowd to prevent possible disorder from growing out of the mass meeting.

Police looked on quietly in the senate chamber while five of the fifteen leaders of the marchers launched into a speaking program of an hour and a half in which the demand for $10,000,000 to $25,000,000 for unemployment relief was presented in fiery language

Governor White watched the approach of the marchers from the state fairgrounds where they have been quartered since their arrival Sunday afternoon from his private office in the state house.

Army Airplanes Will Gather In Ohio City Friday

BY EDWARD B. LOCKETT.

WASHINGTON, May 12. — Aware that danger lurks in the concentration of 672 airplanes in the spring air corps maneuvers beginning in Dayton, O., next Friday, Army air chiefs have taken every precaution against accidents, and have provided for almost instantaneous hospital service in case of crack-ups.

In the first place, according to plans for the maneuvers over Dayton, Chicago, New York, Boston, Washington, Philadelphia and other east coast cities, no attempt will be made to "carry-on" in bad weather.

Although weather is an element of danger "all in the day's work," in war time, officials saw no reason for submitting the air corps unnecessarily to danger in peace operations.

NOT AN EMERGENCY

"This is not a real emergency," Trubee Davison, assistant secretary of war for aviation pointed out today. "It would be poor policy that called for risking the safety of personnel and equipment, particularly in view of the fact most of our operations will be in the vicinity of thickly populated centers such as Dayton, Chicago, New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Washington."

Davison added the rigid plans for the maneuvers call for strictly scheduled operations, and that if bad weather prevents a demonstration the 672 plane formation will not be able to remain in one point to carry out postponed exercises, but will move to the next point with good weather, foregoing demonstrations where the weather prevents.

In case of crashes or other accidents, a specially built "flying hospital" will be on hand for speedy transportation to medical centers.

CAN HANDLE THREE

While the hospital plane is not intended for the performance of major operations in flight, it has equipment for treatment of emergency cases, especially injuries of the type predominant in aviation accidents. The hospital ship, officials said, has comfortable accommodations for three patients, carried in basket litters. It is powered with a 525-horsepower engine and cruises at about 135 miles an hour. The plane will carry a flight surgeon and one attendant in addition to the pilot.

Besides the medical equipment provided by the hospital ship, a staff of 17 flight surgeons will travel with the 1,400 officers and enlisted men who will take part in the maneuvers.

Medical plans for the exercises call for the stationing of at least one flight surgeon with each bombardment, pursuit, observation and attack group.

When the division is in the air over thickly populated centers, ambulances will be provided at nearby ground stations When flying above water, speed boats will stand by with flight surgeons.

"We hope to have no crashes," Col. L. M. Hathway, chief of the air corps medical division, said, "but on the other hand, we want to be prepared for any emergency that may arise in flying operations that cover more than 2,000,000 plane miles.

"In keeping with this policy of preparedness, thorough investigations have been made of hospital facilities in every area to be visited. Numerous physicians, including many distinguished members of the medical profession have volunteered their services."

AT LEAST ONE CRASH VICTIM

25 Cars of Freight Train Pile Up Near Marion; Trespasser Killed.

MARION, O, May 12.—At least one man was killed when 25 cars of a Big Four freight train were wrecked near Martel, 14 miles east of here, late yesterday, investigation by wrecking crews from Marion and Bellefontaine revealed today.

Although searchers were unable to learn the identity of the dead man, he was said to have been a "train-rider" and one of 15 trespassers reported to have been on the train when the cars were derailed and demolished.

The body of the unidentified man was found only after several hours of searching in the debris of the wreck

Railroad officials declared other trespassers probably hurried from the scene to escape arrest.

Cars piled up and toppled from the track when an arch bar on a car near the front of the train buckled up and collapsed, trainmen said.

The train was west bound from Cleveland to Indianapolis and was made up of 90 cars, and the first six and the engine remained on the track.

Seven of the wrecked cars carried cargoes of merchandise worth at least $50,000, railroad officials said.

CROP REPORT OF OHIO GIVEN

Nearly All Crops Reports As of May 1 To Be Much Better Than Year Ago.

Farmer work in Ohio well in advance of normal although somewhat retarded by April rains which brought the precipitation for April up to an inch above normal. Seeding of small grains made good progress during the past month. Oats are through the ground in Southern Ohio and corn planting has begun. Cool weather and light frost during the last week of April resulted in practically no damage to fruit.

The Ohio winter wheat condition on May 1 is 97 percent which is higher than that reported for any other state, according to A. R. Tuttle of the Federal Crop Reporting Service. This condition is compared with 71 per cent on May 1, 1930 and the 10 year average of 76 per cent. The present condition of 97 per cent indicates a production of 37,030,000 bushels compared with 28,640,000 bushels last year and is nearly 14 per cent above the 5-year average. Favorable weather brought wheat through the winter in fine condition, resulting in only 0.7 per cent abandonment compared with 15.0 percent last year and the 10-year average of 15.0 percent

Rye condition is reported at 94 per cent compared with 10 year average of 84 per cent A larger proportion of the total rye acreage sown last fall is expected to be harvested for grain than was indicated at seeding time The forecast of production from the present condition is 1,106,000 bushels compared with a 5 year average of 663,000 bushels.

Pasture condition at 80 per cent shows considerable improvement over the April 1 condition of 72 per cent and somewhat above the 10-year average of 76 per cent on

ANARCHY SPREADS IN SPAIN

Martial Law Declared In Seville After Churches Are Destroyed by Fire.

BLAME COMMUNISTS

Beautiful Structures Now In Ruins

MADRID, May 12, Former King Alfonso and his anarchist supporters are directly responsible for the wild outburst of disorders which have resulted in the destruction of more than a score of Catholic convents, monasteries and other buildings in a half dozen Spanish cities in the past 48 hours, Attorney General Galarza declared today.

MADRID, May 12.—Martial law already in force in Madrid, was extended to Seville today when anti-religious demonstrators [illegible] out anew at the Catholic churches, burning five more institutions to the ground in an unrestrained wave of violence.

Troops were immediately called out of their garrisons to stand guard over the ancient city, hub of a religious center.

BURN CONVENT

The new outbreak occurred this morning. A mob of demonstrators, defying police and guards, set fire to the Carmelite convent, a Jesuit school, a Jesuit convent and one church. All were completely destroyed, the firemen confining their activities to preventing the spread of the flames.

Destruction of a second church was frustrated by the fact the rioters were unable to break in its massive doors. Angered over the failure of their plan, the crowd then proceeded to one of the largest and most beautiful churches in the city.

Spectators, appalled at the outrages, stepped in and dissuaded the rioters from their intention of destroying this edifice, appealing successfully to them to spare it as a national monument.

The crowds of demonstrators and spectators who had filled the streets since the early morning hours scattered as heavily armed troops took possession of the city, setting up machine-gun detachments before church buildings just as had been done in Madrid.

GOVERNMENT WEAK

Intense indignation was expressed by the general populace over the outrages. Law-abiding elements hold the alleged weakness of the government responsible for permitting the destruction to take place.

The rioting mobs were composed of rable of the lowest class, apparently influenced by Communist propaganda, who have taken advantage of the present situation to demonstrate their anti-clerical sentiments and attempt to throw the country into anarchy.

Under the bristling guns of infantry and the drawn swords of cavalry, Madrid was quiet during the early hours today. Most of the workers returned to their tasks.

26 Buildings Are Ruined In Spain

MADRID, May 12.—A total of twenty-six Catholic buildings and other structures have been destroyed in the two days of rioting and terrorism throughout Spain, latest reports revealed. They are:

Madrid, nine, including convents and monasteries.

Seville, five with the famous cathedral also tentatively reported to have been attacked by the crowds

Alicante, seven catholic buildings and a newspaper office.

Cadiz, two convents.

Malaga, two convents and the palace of the archbishop

Saragosa, one convent.

CLUB TO MEET

DEAN VIVIAN TALKS SUNDAY

Rally of Parishes Is Most Successful With Great Crowd In Attendance.

Sunday afternoon the two Methodist Parishes held their annual bi-parish rally. There were rural church people from at least three counties. The meeting was the largest of its kind ever held in the county.

The Ross County Parish, Dr. George Weaver, pastor presented a Parish choir that was representative of singers of nine churches. Mrs. J. R. Tulleys and Mrs. Fred Metcalf sponsored this choir. They made a very fine and lasting impression upon the congregation. The spirit of worship prevailed throughout their singing. The Chillicothe Parish, Rev. H. H. Abels pastor, presented as their contribution to the meeting a Parish brass band. This band was organized last January and has been growing in spirit and numbers.

Will Huff, noted band director and composer is in charge and the members are benefiting highly from his musical ability. One of the pieces that the band played was "The Parish March" that was written by Mr. Huff for this occation. As far as it is known it is the only church band in the state of Ohio. The band will appear in concert throughout the summer at the various sacred and social affairs of the Chillicothe Larger Parish.

Dr. J. W. Blair, Supt. of the Chillicothe district presided over the meeting in a most able fashion. He presented the speaker of the afternoon, the noted educator and lecturer Dean Alfred Vivian of Ohio State University.

Dean Vivian said in part:

"All that we need for a great religious awakening is leadership, and this leadership will undoubtedly come from some open country church. The importance of the open country church cannot be underestimated. The main stay of the church is the farm home. Eighty per cent of the ministers come from the country. The effect of the great outdoors is more religious than that of the city. The Bible is the farmer's book. Every simile and parable of the Bible come from country and pastoral life. Moses, David, Washington, Cincinnatus were men of the open country. The late Dr. Gunsaulus of Chicago discovered in a study of leading men that 85 per cent came from the farm. This is especially true of religious leadership. Somewhere in some country church there is growing up some leader that will lead the revivial of tomorrow. The country church is our most precious asset.

No ethical code is enough and as yet there has been no one successful. Ethics must be motivated by religion. Nor is education enough. Education merely increases a man's possibilities. We must see that religion is just as important as any other study in our school curriculum."

After the address the business of the third quarterly conference was held each pastor making his report. In the friendly contest between the two parishes it was a draw. One parish exceed the other in finance and the other parish exceeded in the matter of attendance.

The People of Trinity and Walnut st., manifested a fine interest in the meeting in their attitude and attendance. Both of the pastors Rev. Voohris and Rev. Motter were in attendance. The Rev. Paul I. Wachs of the Shepherd Church, Columbus, was also present.

FIRE INSURANCE THE BULWARK OF TRADE

THE volume of trade in the United States is estimated at more than 80 billion dollars annually. Probably 90 percent of this is transacted on credit.

The underlying safeguard of credit is Stock Fire Insurance, with more than 150 billions of dollars constantly at risk in the protection of property in this country against fire losses, with an almost equal amount covering hail, windstorm, earthquake and other hazards.

This background of protection against disaster makes commerce on its present gigantic scale possible.

The Silent Partner of Everyone

Few indeed are the activities of the home or of business that are not benefited directly or indirectly by the stabilizing effect of Stock Fire Insurance and the security that it affords.

Stock Fire Insurance is the silent partner in every enterprise—the Bulwark of Trade. It has rendered its service at a cost which on the average has constantly declined for many years.

which are nearing completing, may be denied the benefit of large investments already made, for the want of funds to complete them. Buildings ready for use may be rendered useless for want of equipment. Repairs needed to preserve property are going undone."

Governor White said that when he entered upon his gubernatorial duties last January there was a cash deficit in the state treasury of approximately $4,000,000 and a bookkeeping deficit of about $9,000,000. He pointed out that all the special funds are practically exhausted.

"The budget prepared by the last administration indicated the need for about $83,000,000 for the general revenue fund during the current biennium," he stated. "Revenues under existing laws will probably not exceed $58,000,000, it can not satisfy the reasonable demand upon its services within the limits of the anticipated revenue."

Despite the enormity of their tasks, the legislators appeared confident today that they will be able to wind out a taxation program in three weeks or a month at the most.

The assembly will probably be in session this week until Wednesday, when, it is expected, all taxation bills will be introduced and referred to the standing committees on taxation.

After consideration by the standing committees, the measure will be brought out next week for public hearings. At the beginning of the legislature's third week in session, it is hoped to have the bills placed on the floor for final discussion and disposition.

Another week, it is expected, will be required for the completion of work on the biennium appropriation bill and other special measures.

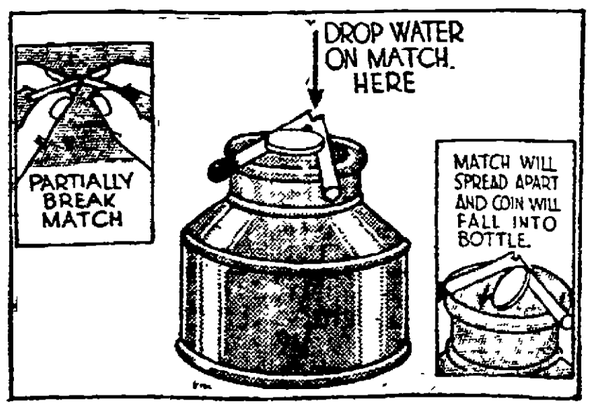
TRICKS of MAGIC EXPLAINED by Will J. Lindhorst

DROP OF WATER MAKES COIN FALL INTO BOTTLE



An ink bottle or other small bottle, a match and a dime or penny are required for this trick. Crack the match so that it will be bent and yet hold together. Place the match on top of the bottle with its broken center on one side and the head and tail on the other. Lay the coin on the match and spread the match apart under the coin, so that the slightest movement of the match will cause the coin to fall. Then tell your audience that you will drop water on the match, and coin will fall in the bottle. Carefully drop the water on the broken ends of the match, which will cause them to draw together, and in doing so will pull the head and tail of the match further apart, thereby taking the support of the match from under the coin, and causing the coin to fall.

"LOVER OF TREES" COMES TO DEFENSE

If only something could be done to stop this senseless maiming of trees which is going on upon the highways of our country side!

Anyone taking a drive out the Ringgold-pk must feel that it is necessary, in some way, to make a protest.

Fine old trees have recently had the entire tops cut off, until not much remains but the trunk. Ruined they are for all time. Even the very young trees have not been spared and the very heart of their graceful boughs and branches have been cut away.

This tree butchery craze sweeps over a community like a disease and then dies down for a time, but the harm can never be repaired.

Once a tree is treated in this cruel and ignorant manner it becomes quite useless, is ugly to the eye, a blot on the landscape and of no value for shade. Then why not cut it down entirely, instead of leaving the poor maimed trunk stand—a reminder of the brutality of the "tree butcher." Once a tree is treated in this manner there is no such thing as a "come back." It makes pitiful attempts to throw out feeble branches, but the strong virile boughs are gone, and gone for all time. The teachers in our schools could do some good by talking against this practice to their children.

Ministers could express themselves at this injustice to one of the noblest things in nature.

Newspaper writers could publish editorials on the subject.

A child's chivalrous nature can be aroused by having him learn the old poem—

"Woodman, spare that tree,
Touch not a single bough.
In youth, it sheltered me
And I'll protect it now."

The Ohio Federation of Women's Club fosters a yearly campaign for the planting of trees, why plant, if when they are grown tall and beautiful they are despoiled of their beauty to satisfy some man's foolish notion? Yesterday in a drive to the south of the state we passed through one town where apparently not a single tree had been spared. The houses stood stark and bare and ugly, certainly that town does not make travellers want to linger there. The approach to our own town from Columbus has elicited much praise because of its graceful avenue of trees on Court-st. Alas! even there some of the fine old ones have been sawed off. God takes a hundred years to make an oak tree—is it possible He is not pleased to have His handwork tampered with or His plans thwarted. "Only God can make a tree,"—and He does not ask man's help in shaping it.

Joyce Killmer wrote many poems, only one bids fair to become immortal. It ought to be printed in every newspaper every spring. This is it:

"I think, that I shall never see
A poem, lovely as a tree—
A tree that faces God alway
And lifts her leafy arms to pray
A tree that may in summer wear
A robin's nest within her hair
Upon whose bosom snow has lain
Who intimately knows the rain
Poems are made by fools like me
But only God can make a tree."

BLAME GIRL FOR DEATH OF YOUTH

DAYTON, O., May 12.—Sixteen-year-old Phyllis Johnson was blamed by police today for an automobile accident in which Jack Schoeniger, 15, Dayton school boy, was killed and two companions were injured.

Authorities declared after an investigation that the girl failed to stop at an intersection. Her car collided with one in which Schoeniger and his friends were riding.

Police said the Johnson girl escaped injuries accompanied by the committee's recommendation, were:

1. A one-per cent retail sales tax bill which would produce from $30,000,000 to $40,000,000 a year.

2. Alternative income tax bills, which, if substituted for a proposed tax on investments, would supply the state $7,000,000 more in revenues.

3. A soft drink tax bill, imposing a levy of one cent a bottle on every beverage, and a bill to tax malt.

4. The Hyre bill, allowing school districts to issue bonds to pay current expenses.

"Proposed hanges will relieve real estate of $10,000,000 it now bears and remove the tax on household goods," the report said.

The committee's aim, Senator Taft declared, "was to reach owners of intangible property in Ohio who have long escaped taxation."

"The tax on intangibles will be equitably apportioned, there will be no incentive for Ohio citizens to place their wealth outside the state of Ohio, and the taxation on tangible property will be on a uniform basis," according to the report.

Calling the attempt to tax intangible property not used in business a "complete failure," the committee proposed to exempt from taxation all such personal property except domestic animals, boats and airplanes.

The estimated yield from the new intangible taxes would be $27,000,000, at least $25,540,863 of which would be required to make up for losses in general funds for school districts, libraries, parks and municipalities. Changes in the taxation basis will cost the state $30,427,410 and the total from all sources will reach $39,000,000, the report said.

Loans up to $1000

During a heavy rain that had lasted two or three days someone said to a farmer, "I wonder if it will ever stop." The farmer cleared his throat and, looking up at the clouded sky, replied, "Well, I don't know—but up to now it always has."

The general business depression must end sometime for the same reason. It may not happen today, however, nor tomorrow. Like a sore thumb, business has to go through a healing process—and that takes time. It's difficult to work with a very sore thumb—it's equally difficult to keep business going without money.

HEIRLOOMS of 1931

A YOUNG member of some far-off generation will take down a piece of stemmed glassware from a cupboard . . . "Look, they used this glass on their daily table." . . He will lift a length of glowing drapery from a chest . . . "They used this curtain at their window."

Heirlooms such as these will indicate to them our 1931 civilization. But there will be another record—the pages of our newspapers and magazines. Here is advertisements they will read of everything worthy that is possessable today. They will sense the countless shops that carry these offerings . . . the endless labor in factories, improving, perfecting things.

Likely enough they will marvel a little that you can buy goods so fresh ("This mayonnaise might have just been made in your kitchen") . . . so carefully prepared ("It took us three years to perfect this cream") . . . so dependable ("This cigarette has always the same satisfying fragrance") . . . so recent ("Only the other day this diamond bracelet came to this country").

Perhaps those far-off readers will want to make some of these purchases themselves—and won't be able to, because of time and distance intervening. But you can! Neither time nor distance deters you. Here it is—anything you wish to buy. Homespun tweeds from Scotland . . . breakfast flakes from sunny wheatlands in the West.

There is romance back of every advertised good thing. Romance of change, of the ceaseless effort at perfection. Advertisements are true mirrors of the best to be had today. They give an easy, happy survey of all that is buyable. They help keep you chic in yourself, your surroundings, every inch of your purchasing . . . . Read them and remember their news.

A Shaky Throne

If history repeats itself—it has with startling frequency of late—Roumania may follow Spain into republicanism. It is already upon the same road

The former King Alfonso, of Spain, incited the movement that ended in his abdication by his military dictatorship. Because he refused to give an inch, suddenly he was forced to give his entire kingdom. Yet, he was warned in plenty of time to save his crown

Kink Carol, of Roumania, is heedlessly speeding along the same path. He hungers for more power while his people demand more liberty and a larger voice in the government The tighter he twists the knot of despotism the lower popular demands grow

When the King's hand-picked premier demanded more power for the crown and broke up parliament, street crowds in Bucharest paraded to the angry chant:

"Down with the dictatorship!"

While at the palace the king, even as King Alfonso was wont to do, took the demonstrations lightly as a bit of political horseplay.

As he sadly departed from Madrid King Alfonso regretted his mistakes. If he is a wise ruler, King Carol will avoid his

King of Ditactors

BESIDE that of Mustapha Kemal president of the Turkish republic the dictatorial powers of Mussolini, Stalin, Machado, Horthy and Pilsudski seem like gestures of democracy. The others have things pretty much their own way, but the Turkish dictator masquerading in president's clothing has everything his own way.

Although it may mean death imprisonment or banishment, opposition to the reigning powers is known in Italy, Russia, Cuba, Poland and Austria Not so in Turkey.

Kemal went before his parliament for reelection for his third term and received a unanimous vote. It may be presumed from this that the parliament is under his control in an absolute sense rarely duplicated anywhere at any time in an elective body. In most countries in these troubled times it is almost impossible to get even a legislative majority for the most worthy causes.

Mussolina and Stalin are dictators by the power of parties, Kemal is dictator in his own right He is his own party, his own government.

That is understandable. The Turkish Republic is his. He made modern Turkey He changed the country's habits, laws, alphabet and dress, after changing its government. And in a custom-bound but maigoverned land like Turkey the latter was probably the simplest.

An Exacting Calling

ONCE upon a time, perhaps, the life of a policeman was a succession of handouts over swinging doors, through kitchen door and from nursemaids pushing perambulators along park walks, but those times are gone forever These gastronomical and osculatory pleasures are what the modern copper hopes to find in the policeman's heaven; not his beat

How the traffic officer as he breathes that nauseating mixture of gasoline fumes and dust and stands with the pouring hot sun above, the blistering hot pavement under foot and sizzling hot walls on all sides must envy that legendary blue coat who got paid for quaffing cool lager awarding the best cooking on his beat and kissing the prettiest chaps nurse in the park

It was much easier to sleep on the beat and [illegible] one copy rendezvous than it is to end a all into headquarters [illegible] ials from widely separated points Indeed, the lot of the present-day policeman is not an easy one.

So was it easier to wink [illegible] pranks and fill him [illegible] hoodlum boys than it is to drag them into court as "dangerous juvenile criminals and see them sentenced to correctional institutions by judges who have forgotten when they stole apples from Farmer Grundy's orchard and corn from the Widow Smith's patch

"MURDER AT EAGLE'S NEST"
By WINIFRED VAN DUZER

CHAPTER XLII.

WILLIAM put his arms around her reluctantly it seemed to Bim. And then the girl drew back, stamped her foot, cried thickly, "You don't care—I know you don't! It's her! It's that woman come betweeen us. I'll show you—and her, too. Think you can drop me like a hot potato, do you? I know plenty, you hear? I'll tell it, so I will. You'll be sorry. You wait'"

He tried to quiet her—tried to take her in his arms again. But she seemed beside herself, laughing and weeping And in the end he seized her roughly, putting his hand over her mouth, and dragged her out into the darkness of the garden.

Bim closed the window and sat a long time considering. Imogene had cried that she knew plenty and the taunt had been sufficient to scare William into a show of spurious affection—for even from the distance which seperated them Bim could see that he felt small regard for the girl.

What was it Imogene knew about William? That he was not a butler but an actor? Would the danger of having this become known upset him so?

The other woman of whom Imogene was jealous was, of course, Jane. Did William really care for Jane? Was there something between them which Imogene had found out and now held like a club over his head?

Happiness In Forgiving

Walter left Pine Hill in the morning before Bim was up. She still felt dispirited as she went out after breakfast for a stroll about the grounds. Her walk took her up the hill and she dropped in at the Frost's for a chat with Mary.

To her surprise she found Mary more cheerful than she ever had been—almost happy, in fact. Mary was eager to explain.

"I think what has happened will change everything for Ted and me. We had a long talk last night. He's just a boy at heart: I don't know there ever has been a time when he has come even near to [illegible] the pain he has caused —until now, at least. He [illegible] a great deal for me. I [illegible] believed this and I [illegible] It's worth—oh, every- [illegible] me to be sure [illegible] wish I could tell you just [illegible] last night. Nothing [illegible] till we got into the [illegible] he got down [illegible] and in my lap and [illegible] only women cry, [illegible] isn't true. We're [illegible] happy now"

"[illegible] be happy, Mary? [illegible] anything"

"Oh, yes. I'm going to forget: [illegible] like a bad dream after [illegible] morning. Four Events To Make O. U. S.'s Sports Capital

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK—Ohio will be the sports capital of America for a stretch of a couple of weeks this summer.

Four important sports events are scheduled, namely:

1. The Western Open Golf Tournament at Dayton, O., June 17, 18, 19 and 20.

2. The Ryder Cup matches (golf) a week later at Columbus.

3. The National Open Golf Championship at Toledo on July 2, 3 and 4.

4. The battle between Max Schmeling of Germany and William L. "Young" Stribling for the heavywheght championship of the world at Cleveland on July 3.

Anent the Western open, I am in receipt of information concerning the Miami Valley Course at Dayton over which this tournament will be played. This course has been the scene of sectional qualifying tests for the national open for two consecutive years, 1929 and 1930. My informant further elucidates, concerning the course as follows:

"Only once has par been broken on this course in tournament competition. It is a natural golf course. When the virgin ground was inspected by Donald Ross way back in 1914, Mr. Ross said to the doctor of the course, Walter S Kidder, 'You have sixteen God-given greens.'

Such proved to be the case, as only two of the marvelous Miami Valley greens are constructed greens.

"Miami Valley looks easy, but the undulating ground, swales, elevated greens and scientific trapping make this course a real golfing test—old man par demands straight and accurate shooting. Many shots, in addition to being straight and accurate, have to be well placed. The course will be in prime shape for the Western Open."

Inverness Golf Club at Toledo, is making ready for the Thirty Fifth national open golf championship which opens on July 2. With the unbeatable Bobby Jones out of competition, due to his retirement last fall from competitive golf, this event will be a "wide open" affair and should attract unusual attention. For once the probable winner will be open to all kinds of speculation. One hundred and fifty of the best golfers of the United States and from abroad will tee off in this tournament.

The heavyweight championship match at Cleveland on the night of July 3 will attract thousands of sports fans to Ohio. They will come from all parts of the United States to see the bout, for a title fight always commands national attention. The winner will be proclaimed the champion by the National Boxing Association even though the New York State Boxing Commission refuses—and probably will continue to refuse—to recognize Schmeling as the champ.

Many experts believe the real champion of the world will not be determined until later—that is, until the winner at Cleveland, either Schmeling or Stribling, meets the winner of the scheduled June 10 fight in Brooklyn, N. Y., between Jack Sharkey and Primo Carnera.

Anyway, there will be plenty of sports activity in the good old state of Ohio late in June and early in July.

Ralph DePalma Again To Race

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — Ralph De Palma, oldest driver in point of competition entered in the 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway is using a device of the early days of racing to travel his new race car from Los Angeles, where it was built, to the track.

He is driving it overland.

"I want to give the car a good run in before I get to the track," De Palma explains in a wire saying that he will leave Los Angeles in the race car for his long, fast ride over the roads to Indianapolis, within a few days.

De Palma's car, a Wehr Special, is only 170 cubic incres piston displacement in size. It is of rotary valve construction and De Palma hastens to explain that the purpose of his competition in the big drive this year is to demonstrate the possibilities of the rotary valve motor.

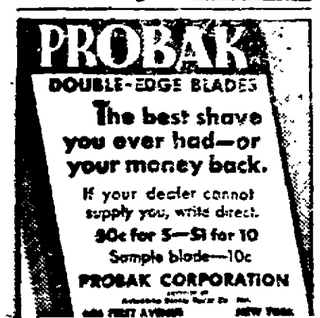
De Palma is the only pilot who competed in the first 500-mile race at Indianapolis who also is entered here this year. He won the race in 1915 when he whirled a German Mercedes across the finish wire at the end of 500-miles for record average of 89.84 miles an hour. This record held until 1922 when the late Jimmy Murphy boosted the average to 94.48 miles an hour.

Record holding at Indianapolis has been a De Palma family trait for many years. Ralph held his mark eight years. Then Peter De Paolo, his nephew, established the existing record of 101.13 miles an hour in 1925.

De Palma and De Paolo, uncle and nephew, both winners of 500-mile events here and both former American champions will be pitted against each other in the trials and tribulations of the race here this year.

Although De Palma made his sensational victory over the Indianapolis bricks in 1915 he was a popular favorite with race fans before that time. He really leaped into international repute not through victory but through a defeat. In 1912 when he was leading the race by nearly five miles with only five miles to go to the finish, mechanical trouble forced him out of the running. Instead of scowling and frowning at his hard luck, he smiled and waved to cheering thousands as he pushed his car off the track. The crowd liked his attitude. And the crowd never has forgotten. Every time he rolls on a track the crowd still cheers.

De Palma has not appeared in competition at Indianapolis for several years. But he has kept his fingers in the racing pie. He constantly competed in dirt track events. He is perfectly at home on the Indianapolis track, however. He has driven more miles in competition over the Indianapolis bricks than any other driver.



CROP REPORT

May 1. Stocks of hay on farms May 1 are only 173,000 tons compared with 552,000 tons on May 1 last year and the 5-year average of 618,000 tons.

Fruit prospects in Ohio this year are very good at present. Practically all fruit trees are showing a very heavy bloom. In some cases the bloom is too heavy. Trees that produced a heavy crop last year, however, do not show a very heavy bloom. Late varieties of apple trees are showing a heavier bloom than the early varieties. A cold wave swept over Ohio during the last week in April but hardly any frost damage is reported up to May 1.

Egg production on farms of Ohio Crop Reporters on May 1 is above last year and also above the 5-year average. The number of hens and pullets of laying age per farm is also above last year and the 5 year average. Milk production per cow is above May 1, 1930 and the average, while the percentage of cows dry is about normal.

No. hens and pullets of laying age, per farm, average, 1925-1929, 100; 1930 103; 1931 110.

Eggs per 100 hens (1 day) average 1925-1929, 59.7; 1930 61.2; 1931 61.5.

Oil-Men Defeat Grocery 9 10-2

Displaying their usual strength in swatting the ball, and aided by their Moundsman Carl Purcell, who handled his position in fine style, allowing but six hits, Glen Nickerson's Circleville Oil ball team easily defeated the Grocers at Utilities Park Monday evening.

The Oil-men have a .1000 percent record thus far.

The Oils scored three runs in the first stanza Pickens scored on a hit by Stevens, and Scott and Stevens came in on Steele's hit to center field.

Scoring subsided until the sixth inning, when Eve Merriman of the Oil-men scored on a hit by Howard White. Art Steele came in on a hit by Smith in the seventh. Purcell was almost credited with the first home run of the season, but failed to tab first in the circle of the bases, and Umpire Miller called him out. Nevertheless Smith and White were allowed to score on the hit.

Then came a break for the Grocers. Wallace reached the bases and scored on an error The Grocery-men filled the bases this ining, but the batters popped and scoring was squelched.

The Oils completed their scoring in the eighth and ninth, when Pickens, and Merriman scored on hits. Gordon of the Grocers also came in on a hit by Watson in the eighth frame.

The game which was almost called on account of darkness lasted an hour and one half, the longest game thus far, this year.

There were several uprisings concerning decisions of the umpires, which always takes the 'life and sport' out of a game. The umpires must be given credit for calling the decisions as they see it, and sticking to it.

Setting a 700-Year Precedent

An important innovation in the history of the Anglican Church has been established through the visit to Jerusalem by the Archbishop of Canterbury. The head of the Church of England is shown accompanied by Bishop McKinnen (left), Anglican Bishop of Jerusalem, and Major Keith Coach (right), Governor of the city, on their way to visit the Holy Sepulchre. This is the first time the head of the Church of England has visited the Holy City since the days of the Crusades.

BOY TELLS OF TWO MURDERS

17-Year-Old Youth Confesses Brutally Slaying Ohio Man and His Wife.

CANTON, O., May 12.—Ray Wilt, 17, has allegedly confessed to the hatchet murder of Edward Thomas, 46, and his wife, Ethel, 44, whose mutilated bodies were found at their farm home Sunday night, Prosecutor James M. Aungst announced today.

In his confession, according to Aungst, Wilt asserted that he killed the pair on Saturday night, May 2. He stated that he killed Mrs. Thomas first and then struck her invalid husband, sitting in the kitchen in a wheelchair, afterward dragging their bodies to the bedroom clothes closet.

Wilt then mopped the blood from the kitchen floor, stole some money from Mrs. Thomas' purse, nine chickens and some canned goods and carried them away in Thomas' automobile, his confession, which came after an all-night grilling, revealed, the prosecutor said.

ELECTION TO NAME 'NICK'S' SUCCESSOR

COLUMBUS, O., May 12.—Governor George White today issued a proclamation calling for a special election in the first congressional district, Hamilton-co, for the purpose of choosing a congressman to succeed the late Nicholas Longworth, speaker of the national house of representatives.

The proclamation which was addressed to the Hamilton-co sheriff and the electors of the district, directs that a special primary election be held Aug. 11, the regular primary election day, to nominate candidates and that the special election be held on Nov. 3, the regular election day.

The special election is made necessary because provisions of Cincinnati local charter do not require observance of regular election dates it was said.

FAMED VIOLINIST DIES IN BELGIUM

BRUSSELS, Belgium, May 12.—Eugene Ysaye, the world famous violinist, died at his home here today.

Ysaye had been in failing health for some time. His death, however, came unexpectedly.

The immediate cause of death was heart disease. Queen Elizabeth of the Belgians, who visited the violinist regularly during his illness, was the first to pay homage to his memory.

The violinist is survived by his American wife, the daughter of Dr. Hermann Dincin, a physician of Brooklyn, N. Y., whom he married in 1927.

Ysaye was born in Liege, Belgium, on July 15, 1858. He was educated at the Liege conservatory and later under Wieniawski in Brussels and Vieuxtemps in Paris. His distinguished musical career included four years as conductor of the Cincinnati symphony orchestra. He concluded this engagement in 1922.

Mother's Day Banquet Held

Amid a profusion of spring flowers artistically arranged throughout the social room of the First Presbyterian church, the Young Ladies Bible class entertained Monday evening with their annual banquet commemorating Mother's Day. Seventy-five members and guests were present.

Class officers of 1930 and 1931 namely: Miss Edith Haswell, Miss Florence Dunton, Mrs. Donald H Watt, Mrs Aletha Lucas, Miss Margaret Weldon and Mrs. J. E Motschman received the guests in the social room.

At 6:30 o'clock guests and class members found places at the various long tables placed throughout the dining room, which were attractively decorated in spring flowers, and white tapers in crystal holders, which cast a soft glow over the entire scene, as the twilight shadows fell and Rev. E S Toensmeier gave an evening prayer.

A sumptuous three-course dinner, complete in its every appointment, was served by the banquet committee, with Mrs. Glenn I. Nickerson in charge, assisted by Mrs. H. D. Jackson, Mrs. Allen Newmyer, Mrs. Charles Smith, Miss Florence Dunton and Mrs. Bernard List.

Immediately following the dinner, Mrs. Donald H. Watt, class president, charmingly greeted the assembly and introduced Mrs Howard Jones, who ably and cleverly assumed the role as toastmistress, and with her fluent command of literary excerpts, she introduced the various numbers on the program.

The first number on the program was a "Toast to the Mothers," by Mrs. J. E. Motschman, who pleasingly eulogized a mother's intrinsic value.

Mrs. Clark Will, next entertained with a group of spring songs. The spirit of spring seemed to fill the room as, Mrs. Will in her clear, soprano voice, sang "April Rain," by Woodman, "A Memory," by Ganz, "Moon Marketing," by Weaver, and "Holiday," by Scott.

The next number was a group of readings by Mrs. Tom Renick, in her usual captivating manner, she fascinated her audience, with her first number entitled "Mother." In an equally pleasing manner, Mrs. Renick gave two more numbers, "To Mother" and "No Occupation."

The closing number of the program was a toast to the daughters by Mrs. E. S. Toensmeier. She outlined in poetry in an eloquent manner the various phases of a daughter's life.

The committee responsible for this splendid program was composed of Mrs. Will Mack, Miss Elizabeth Umstead, Mrs. J. O. Eagleson and Mrs. Eugene Porter.

The class presented each mother with a carnation, the flower symbol of Mother's Day.

Mrs H. Van Riper and Mrs. J. E. Motschman had charge of the decoration for the occasion.

Another Mother's Day was celebrated by the members of the Von Bora Society of the Trinity Lutheran church when they held their annual banquet, Monday evening in the Parish House.

Large baskets of lilacs, artistically arranged filled the dining room, where seventy-five members and guests were seated at large tables in the form of a letter M prettily decorated in red crepe paper and centered with tulips in bud vases. Before being seated at the tables special attention was called to the oldest mother present, Mrs. Christina Palm, who asked the blessing. Mrs. Palm, who is 84 years of age, has never missed a Mother's Day banquet given by the society.

The committee responsible for the lovely affair included Miss Susie Wilson, Miss Magdaline Trump, Mrs. John Seal, Mrs. Grover Pickens, Mrs. Chester Wolf, Mrs. George Crites, Mrs. Edna Moon, and Miss Elizabeth Beck, assisted by Miss Flora Palm, Mrs. James Davidson and Mrs. James Carpenter.

Immediately following the dinner a reading, "That's Mother's Way," was given by Mrs. James Carpenter, and a Bible contest held aroused much interest.

For the program in charge of Miss Irma Leist, Miss Mary Heffner and Mrs. G. L. Troutman, the guests were ushered to the auditorium. The first number was a selection, "Those Songs My Mother Sang," by a trio composed of Mrs. Mary Morris, Miss Mildred Barthelmas and Mrs. James Moffitt

The next selection, "Come On You Kiddies," and "Just a Gigilo" was sung and acted out in a clever manner by Miss Ellen Leist and Miss Grace Bower, dressed in "Kiddies" clothes.

Following a vocal solo, "The Deacon Told Me I Was Good," by Carolyn Herrmann accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Karl Herrmann, "Sleepy Town Express" was acted out by the "twin kiddies" while Carolyn sang the selection in her usual charming manner.

After a reading by Miss Wilhemine Haecker, "My Poor Feet" a picture contest was enjoyed. While songs were played by Mrs. Herrman, characters were portrayed by members of the Von Bora including. Mrs Mary Bower, "Irish Wash Woman"; Lena May and Betty Webby, "School Days"; Mrs. James Stout, "Old Black Joe"; Miss Ellen Leist, "Alice Blue Gown"; Miss Grace Bower, "Blind Bubbles"; Mrs. Anna Foresman, "Long, Long Ago"; Carolyn Herrmann, "Singing in the Rain"; Mrs William Fitzpatrick and Mrs. James Stout, the theme song of Amos 'n' Andy; and the "Star Spangled Banner" was represented by the American Flag.

The program was concluded by a selection from the trio, "My Mother's Rosary."

EASTERN STAR MEETING AT KINGSTON

The thirteenth annual inspection of Kingston Chapter No 411, Order of Eastern Star, was held in the M. E Community room Friday evening, with Miss Marie Hamilton, this city, Deputy Grand Matron, as inspecting officer.

The auditorium was beautifully decorated with a profusion of lavender and white lilacs and at vantage points were baskets of various colored tulips, making the whole a very artistic scene, in which about ninety members and visitors sat down in groups of four to enjoy a splendid banquet. The chapter officers were placed at one long table which, besides the centerpiece of tulips, was decorated with two candelabras with tapers of the five Star colors.

Following the banquet the ritualistic work was put on, which was very impressive and instructive.

Guests attending the inspection from Circleville included Deputy Grand Matron, Miss Marie L Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. C C. Chappelear, Mrs. Nannie Hamilton, Mrs. Laura Bentley, Mrs. Emma W. Joseph, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Johnson, Mrs. Leslie D. May, Samuel Joseph, Miss Jessie Wood and Mrs Mame Groom.

EARLY ADVERTISER IS HIGHLY HONORED

It is generally agreed that one of the foundations of modern business is advertising. 1930, a year long to be remembered for many things not so pleasant, was a splendid year to test out the value of advertising efficiency in modern business.

Most of us, not being fully informed on the subject, are apt to consider advertising a strictly modern weapon of business advancement. In this connection it is interesting to note that Cyrus Hall McCormick, whose invention of the reaper one hundred years ago is being celebrated throughout the world this year, was a great believer in advertising and a constant user or advertising space. His first advertisement of the reaper appeared in 1833 in the Lexington Union. From time to time he continued to publish notices of his reaper and also of his patented hillside plow. By 1845 he was publishing long advertisements in the farm papers of Chicago, Detroit, Columbus, and northern New York.

These reaper advertisements of long ago hardly meet the advertising standards of today. Yet, in the last analysis, they contain the essentials found in the highest type of modern advertisement, arranged in the quaint style of the period. There is an illustration of the reaper drawn by a team of sleek horses, moving along at an easy trot: a man in a high hat is raking the platform clear. The text of the advertisement speaks of the good crops that are coming, of a labor shortage, and admonishes the farmers to place their orders early, before the supply is exhausted. Then appears a testimonial, sometimes a round-robin affair, signed by farmers throughout Indiana, Illinois, and Wisconsin.

McCormick, almost a century ago, brought the force of advertising to his aid in building up the farm equipment industry. He believed in advertising. He was a prolific contributor to newspapers and magazines, always writing and challenging and pointing out why his reaper was the best and why it should be used.

Harry Hill, the McCormick-Deering dealer whose advertisements you read in this newspaper, is only continuing the policy that McCormick began almost a century ago.

Muslin To Be Mainstay Of Summer Style

By ALICE LANGELIER
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

PARIS — Muslin will be the main-stay of smart fashioins this summer, judging from all the pretty cottons now coming from the French dressmakers.

Muslins make charming little morning ensembles, afternoon frocks and chic evening ensembles. Old-fashioned gingham is considered the very smartest thing for spring blouses and there are all kinds of cross-barred dimities, pique, dotted and embroidered muslins that would make anybody wonder why silks and satins retain their popularity

The Duchess of Westminster has ordered a lovely morning muslin in pink flowered shantung. It is a two-piece and the jumper-blouse is trimmed with buttons and stitching.

For afternoon a pink organdie frock comes over a pink satin slip and is split right down the center-front. There are swirling circles of shirred bands on the skirt and bodice and a sash of bronze-green velvet ribbon matches long green silk gloves worn with it.

Cotton for evening comes by way of an orchid muslin dress with jacket of white. The long skirt is flared by tucks on the hips and the jacket has triple circular ruffles all around the border, twisted into a narrow line at the back of the neck.

A smart two-jacket ensemble has one of them in white Swiss embroidered batiste and is very dressy with its flared sleeves and pepium. The frock is made of black lusterless silk crepe and is trimmed with stitched bands and two tiny revers at the neckline made of Swiss embroidered batiste.

Newest lounging pyjamas come in fine white organdie with coats or jackets of the flowered variety.

Suzanne Talbot is making wi pleated organdie trousers with sleeveless jumper blouse and figu ed organdie waistcoat. Mus makes charming dressing gow and almost all the silk pyjama e sembles have cotton blouses.

ON THE UP AND UP

Frankly, we are getting sick and tired of all this depression talk. We've heard it now for over a year. It's been thrown at us from all angles, in several languages, and about the only thing harder than hard times in general is the necessity of listening to folks cry all the time.

Let's get down to facts and quit singing the blue notes. Is everything as bad as all that?

In our humble opinion, no. Business is good; it might be a lot better, but in a moment of honesty, it isn't so bad that we have to start hanging the crepe yet. The cash register rings up a sale once in a while; folks come in to pay their bills; the delivery truck is still using gas and oil.

In short, depression or no depression, things are moving along and we know things are moving along for a lot of other people, too.

Let's make them move faster by signing off the wailing and knashing of teeth program. It might not work miracles but it is a darned sight easier to do and it will make all of us a darned sight happier.

There is a lady down in Pickaway-twp (or maybe it is Circleville-twp) that has been using a De Luxe spring on her bed for quite some time. One day last week, she called us on the phone and ordered us to send out another one. She wanted one for her daughter's bed. Isn't that pretty good evidence that the De Luxe spring is satisfactory? Why sleep on an inferior spring, one that folds you up until your head and heels meet when you can get a GOOD spring for a little more money, and you can sleep with your spine in a straight line, instead of a curved position?

We've been rather busy the past week cutting, and delivering Armstrong's print linoleum and Quaker felt base goods. Two more rolls came in Saturday, via Fred Braddock's truck, from Columbus.

Geo. L. Border, Kingston, who travels for a school supply house, was dining in a hotel recently. George said to the head waiter, "What's the name of that selection the orchestra is playing?"

The H. W. replied, "Go Feather Your Nest."

And friend George said to the H. W., "Go jump in the lake. I asked you a civil question."

Stanley Ankrom and wife were in the store last week and told us that they purchased a rug from us some ten years ago and that it was still in good shape, in spite of the heavy traffic that it has had during all of these years. We're glad to know that the Ankrom family have had such good service from this rug, but it is hard on rug makers and retailers to have rugs last so long. It has always been the policy of this store to carry only dependable merchandise rather than "price" goods.

If the neighbors notice Mrs. Ray (Edythe) Anderson, 526 E. Mound street, taking things easy just before "hash" time, we hope that they will not think that she is getting careless about preparing meals for her family. It'll be because the Estate gas range, which we installed for her a few days ago, is taking care of the meal. You see, it is one of those new model K ranges, with insulated oven and ThermEstate oven heat control. This range is a combination of a range, worktable, and a cabinet, all in one. Will it save her steps in her work? Just ask her. And is it a beauty? Again, we say, ask her.

Mrs. O. E. Delong, of near Ring gold, after using Florence kero sene wickless cook stove for 12 long years, preparing some 13,000 meals in that time, still endorses this well-known make of oil burning cook stoves. Well, if she can recommend the Florence after a of these meals, it MUST be some stove. You've guessed it—we ar local distributors.
